

topic:: Ladies: 5 Ways You Try Too Hard

author:: TC

talk:: 1) Dressing like a slut- dressing like a video hoe or a downtown hooker isn't gonna make a man want to wife you. It isn't gonna make a man want to get to know you. It's gonna make a man wanna have sex with you real hard for 10 minutes, take some nude camera phone pics of you, and that's it. Sexiness comes from within. (A phat ass doesn't hurt, but it mostly comes from the way you carry yourself) Ain't nothing wrong with your little black dresses ladies, but when you start dressing like you are working a car show, or like you are gonna be in the next T.I. Video, that's when you lose.

2) Being insecure- Look, it's not my fault that your last boyfriend had sex with your best friend, your cousin, and your co worker behind your back. I wish that had never happened, and I'm sorry you had to go through that. But please don't try so hard to protect yourself from future heartbreaks that you miss out on a good thing! Trying to keep tabs on your man like a human GPS system, going through his phone, and not trusting him will do more damage than good, trust me. And please stop stalking the Facebook and Myspace profiles of every woman that writes on his wall or leaves him a comment, your starting to scare me.

3) Being an attention whore- If you have to FORCE someone to notice you, that's a problem in itself. You don't have to frisk around, or be the loudest thing in the room to gain a man's attention, so sit your ass down somewhere and just be yourself. I blame Paris Hilton and the entire MTV & VH1 for the increase in attention whorage in the past 3 years.

4) Trying to prove that you don't NEED a man- Look Sista Soulja, I understand that you are independent, and can take care of yourself. But all the standoff-ish, confrontational, bitter antics are not attractive. You say "men ain't sh*t," and that all the good men are either taken or gay. The truth is, you just haven't come across a man who you "click" with yet. Just because you haven't yet met the right one for you, doesn't mean that the entire male gender isn't worth a damn. Have some patience, and get your mind right for when you DO find mister right. Cut that bitter ish out, before you end up like that old lady in your neighborhood that doesn't do anything but mind everybody else's business because she doesn't have any of her own.

5) Have some patience- Stop turning every guy you meet into a future marriage candidate. Go wit the flow and let things work out on their own, you scare men off when you start making future plans on your second date. Don't put the full court press on a dude too quickly, and don't start thinking of baby names after ya'll have only gone out a few times. Let him chase you for a while, we like that sh*t, cause like Pac said, "I don't want it if it's that easy..."

Fellas did I miss anything?

Ladies what ways do men FAIL?
